Executive Summary

The Department of Student Affairs Assessment sponsored six professional development workshops as part of the Staff Achievement Innovation and Leadership (SAIL) program series. In total, 37 people participated in the programs during the fall semester. SAIL session topics included: international perspectives on Student Affairs; integrating new technology; understanding work style through Myers Briggs personality test; support for professionals looking to publish; and 20 minute workout routines for busy professionals.

Questionnaire

At the end of each SAIL program, questionnaires were distributed that asked participants to rate their level of agreement with the following statements:

- The SAIL session was informative.
- The SAIL session was engaging.
- The presenter(s) was knowledgeable about the topic(s) discussed.
- The presentation was conducted in an organized manner.
- The time allotted for the SAIL session was sufficient.
- Overall, this SAIL session was beneficial to me.

General Findings

The aggregate results across the six SAIL sessions are as follows:

- 94.6% of participants found the sessions to be informative
- 97.3% of participants found the sessions engaging
- 100% of participants found the presenters to be knowledgeable about the topic discussed
- 100% of participants found the sessions to be facilitated in an organized manner
- 86.4% of participants found the time allotted to each session to be sufficient
- 94.6% of participants found the sessions to be beneficial overall
